

Actionwork's National Creative Workshop Tour

Following the success of our recent national Silent Scream theatre tour Actionwork is giving schools across the country the chance to be involved in our highly acclaimed creative action, interactive and energised workshops.

Actionwork, based near Bristol, is a national theatre-in-education company with over 20 years experience of dealing with and exploring issues such as bullying, racism and sexism.

During this tour we will be providing each school with a 2-hour fun-packed, creative workshop and a free lesson plan.

*"It was absolutely fantastic, thank you"
Nicky Munroe, Head of Year 8,
Wyvern Secondary School*

*"It was a great workshop. Actionwork delivered a really positive message about how to deal with bullying"
Mike Jordan, Healthy Schools Team*

*"Brilliant. It was the best show we have ever had"
Josh Maggs, Pupil
Sandford Primary School*

1. Choose your topic:
Bullying, relationships, homophobia, violence, drug misuse, or racism.
Other topics available
2. Choose your timings:
60, 90 or 120 minutes
3. Choose number of participants:
30, 50, 90, 120, 180, 250, 300, 400 or 500
4. Choose your 2007 date/s:
April, May, June, July, September, October, or November.
5. Workshops tailored to your needs
6. Supports curriculum led PSHE work
7. Interactive and highly creative
8. Discounts for block bookings
9. Available from April - November 2007
10. Free lesson plan with each booking
11. Inclusive price of £349

Follow this link for a taste of Actionwork:
www.actionwork.com/awpromo05.html

We look forward to the possibility of visiting your school. Please contact us for more details.
To book please phone Vashti on 01934 815163 or visit our website www.actionwork.com